THE GLOOPS

Speaking a universal language, The Gloops are a lovable family of aliens that are poised to invade planet earth! Through music and sounds, they play guessing games which encourage our preschool audience to join in, thereby stimulating their imagination!

As they travel through space, The Gloops sit on floating stools around the keyboard, to play together and to guess sounds from within their spaceship. Each episode contains an interactive game in which both the Gloop family and the viewers can participate!

International rights are available in English speaking territories for this series produced by Neptuno Films.
